2. Non-credit courses, non-degree programs and non-matriculated students are not approved for veterans' benefits.
3. Curricula leading to the undergraduate degree described in this catalog may include off-campus learning experiences that meet the requirements 38 CFR 21.4267, as independent study. It is the responsibility of the institution to identify the nature of each of its off-campus learning experiences, pursuant to the regulations cited above, and to certify enrollment in such off-campus activities in the correct subsection of item 9 on VA Form 22-1999.
4. Concurrent enrollment requires the following procedures:
 - When a student matriculates at a college that provides an approved program leading to an accredited degree, this becomes the primary institution for certification of courses;
 - When the same student, for whatever reason, takes courses at another institution at the same time, that institution becomes the secondary school;
 - If the secondary school wishes to certify the student for benefits under the provisions of concurrent enrollment, the secondary school must obtain a letter from the primary school stating that all certified credits will be accepted at full value at the primary school and count toward the requirements for graduation.
5. Independent study programs [under which distance education is approved or denied] must meet the requirements of 38 CFR 21.4267 to be certified for veterans' benefits; UIU combinations of distance education from Fayette, IA and residence training in West Allis may fall under both Stipulations 3 and 4.
