Iowa schools are growing in diversity and many students lack the English language skills fundamental to academic success. Schools have responded by hiring teachers equipped to support their English language learners. The demand for English as a Second Language (ESL) endorsement has at times outpaced the supply of licensed ESL teachers.

You can make a difference in the lives of English language learners by completing your endorsement and degree. UIU offers licensed teachers the option to add this valuable endorsement and to complete your Master of Education degree.

To be awarded the Master of Education, ESL K-12 you must complete an action research project, comprehensive examinations and earn a minimum of 36 approved graduate credit hours.
