MASTER OF EDUCATION: EARLY CHILDHOOD BIRTH- GRADE 3: INCLUSIVE SETTINGS

Are you passionate about working with young children with disabilities? Quality early childhood education is one of the best interventions we can make to increase the likelihood of success for children with disabilities. As legislators, administrators and parents increasingly recognize the importance of early childhood education for long-term student success, there is a growing demand for teachers with an early childhood unified endorsement. UIU offers an endorsement that qualifies you to teach students with disabilities from birth through grade three.

To be awarded the Master of Education degree with an emphasis in Early Childhood you must earn a minimum of 36 approved graduate credit hours.
