

MASTER OF EDUCATION: TEACHER LEADERSHIP

Help shape the vision of your school

The teaching profession needs teachers prepared to assume the growing leadership roles demanded in the collaborative environment of today's schools. Teachers serve on building leadership teams, in professional learning communities, and in important leadership roles such as department chair, mentor, instructional coach, curriculum leader and master teacher.

The most important leaders in any school are found in the classroom. Let UIU help you become a teacher leader who inspires your students and your peers. UIU has designed two paths for today's busy teacher leader. Complete a 36-credit Master of Education program or a 15-credit certificate program. These programs target the critical skills and knowledge you need to be a teacher leader.
